

Call for Nominations: The Combustion Institute Board of Directors

Released: 11 November 2019

The Combustion Institute is seeking nominations for the Board of Directors. Elected directors will serve one six-year term (2020-2026) to begin at the conclusion of the 38th International Symposium on Combustion.

Nominations

Sections and individual members are encouraged to nominate well-qualified colleagues for these leadership positions. Nominations from industry candidates are particularly encouraged. The nomination package should be a single file (Microsoft® Word or PDF) that contains:

- A brief statement (up to 1 page) of why the candidate should be considered for a position on the Board of Directors;
- A statement detailing the nominee's service to the combustion community and/or other professional organizations;
- A two-page curriculum vitae and a list of peer-reviewed publications of the past 5 years; and
- A description of his/her field of work with the URL of the nominee's website if available (up to 1 page).

Submit nomination packages to The Combustion Institute: Office@CombustionInstitute.org with the subject line: Board of Directors Nomination Package.

Nominations Deadline: Submission must be received before 23:59 PST, 3 January 2020.

Participation: To participate in the election, each member of The Combustion Institute must have an active account on the CI account management system that has been approved by their Section Administrator. Ballots will be delivered to members in June 2020. The election will be conducted using a Single Transferable Vote (STV) system.
