

Call for Nominations: Bernard Lewis Fellowship

Released: 5 April 2022

The purpose of the Bernard Lewis Endowment Fund is to undertake or seed projects that further educational initiatives in combustion research. The Bernard Lewis Fellowship was established to encourage high quality research by young scientists and engineers. Fellowships are awarded at each International Symposium on Combustion.

A fellowship consists of a $500 USD cash award, and financial reimbursements for: the registration fee for the 39th International Symposium on Combustion, the excursion, the banquet, and hotel accommodations during the Symposium. In addition, fellowship recipients receive an electronic copy of The Proceedings of The Combustion Institute, Vol. 39, and a one-year subscription to Combustion and Flame. Recipients will also be recognized in the Symposium program.

Eligible recipients must be:

- Students or combustion scientists who have earned their Ph.D. (or equivalent) within three years of the Symposium (2019 or after)
- Author of a paper accepted for the 39th International Symposium on Combustion
- A member of The Combustion Institute

Nominations

Nominations must be made by a member of The Combustion Institute who is familiar with the accomplishments of the nominee. The nominee must verify their CI membership and attendance at the Symposium.

The nomination package must include:

- A cover letter by the nominator that reads as a letter of recommendation
- A recommendation letter, no more than two pages in length, from an individual other than nominator
- A nominee information package that includes:
 - ◇ Current educational vitae, including name, email and current mailing address, affiliation, and position
 - ◇ List of journal and peer-reviewed conference publications
 - ◇ List of recent accomplishments (restricted to 1 page)

Submit nomination packages through the nomination submission portal on The Combustion Institute Account Management System \(AMS\). Instructions on how to use the AMS nomination submission portal can be found on the CI website. Questions regarding submissions should be directed to office@combustioninstitute.org with the subject line: "BL Fellowship Nomination Package."

Nominations Deadline: Electronic submissions must be received before 23:59 PDT, 27 April 2022. Recipients will be notified by 27 May 2022.
