

Call for Applications: The Combustion Institute Women in Combustion Advisory Committee

Released: 12 September 2023

The Combustion Institute is committed to diversity, equity, and inclusion. We are seeking female candidates interested in serving on the newly formed Women in Combustion Advisory Committee. As a committee member you will have the opportunity to contribute your passion and experience towards identifying and advancing the needs of women in combustion and fostering positive change. The committee will make informed recommendations for the betterment of women in combustion and Combustion Institute members.

Key Responsibilities and Requirements

Committee members should possess the following characteristics:

- An interest to work collaboratively with fellow committee members to generate and implement new ideas on how to increase the involvement of women in combustion. Areas may include:
 - Symposia planning and programming.
 - Future awards and accolades.
 - Mentoring and educational programs.
- Availability and willingness to attend committee meetings and participate in events as needed.
- A desire to advocate for policies and practices that promote gender diversity, equal opportunities, and support within the combustion community.

Application Process

To apply for a committee position, you will be asked to provide:

- Your motivation, or why you want to join the committee.
- What you feel you can bring to the committee.
- Your unique qualifications that would benefit the committee make-up.
- Summary of your involvement in Combustion Institute activities, such as meeting attendance, publication in CI affiliated journals.

Applications can be submitted through this Google Form or by completing the PDF version of the application. Completed PDF documents should be sent to renny@combustioninstitute.org. Please complete your applications no later than 23:59 EST, 13 October 2023. Applicants will be notified by the end of October 2023.

Questions regarding submissions or the committee should be directed to renny@combustioninstitute.org with the subject line: "WIC Advisory Committee."

Thank you for considering this opportunity to be part of the community and committee.
